» “The use of blunt needles reduced the risk of glove perforation by 54% compared to sharp needles”*

» The use of these needles was rated as acceptable in five out of six studies.*

» “…the use of blunt needles appreciably reduces the risk of contracting infectious diseases for surgeons and their assistants over a range of operations by reducing the number of needle stick injuries.”*