Periop Mastery 2.0
Bridge the knowledge gap between new and experienced nurses by assessing their competencies and then targeting their education to specific areas of practice weaknesses. Bridge the knowledge gap between new, experienced or travel nurses by assessing competencies and targeting education to individual knowledge gaps. Choose the entire program (19 modules) or individual modules to meet your team's needs, all with contact hours. New Quality Improvement (QI) packages that address Surgical Site Infection, Retained Surgical Items, and Sterilization Failure help to reduce the potential for sentinel events. QI packages include a Periop Mastery 2.0 module, gap analysis checklist, quality & risk assessment, webinar, and a business case model for purchasing decisions.
Care of the Pediatric Surgical Patient
This course focuses on the care of a child in the perioperative environment and the complex processes that are needed because of the vast differences in children as they grow through varying stages of development, from neonatal through adolescence. These modules cover nursing interventions implemented during the preoperative, intraoperative, and postoperative phases.

Foundations for Sterile Processing
Sterile processing plays a crucial role in the safety of the surgical patient. This short training course covers the pre-cleaning, cleaning, disinfection, sterilization, and care of surgical instruments and devices, as well as perioperative safety and the prevention of transmissible infections.

Virtual Reality Training: Fire in the OR and Malignant Hyperthermia (MH)
AORN has partnered with medical training provider Health Scholars to bring virtual reality (VR) education to your periop team and help make your annual competency training more immersive, efficient and effective. Fire in the OR is designed to provide a simulation of real-world events to ID fire risks, safely practice, and understand causes of OR fires. Malignant Hyperthermia (MH) enables learners to ID and manage a patient experiencing MH using best practices from MHAUS and AORN.

CineMed | AORN Video Library
AORN has partnered with CineMed to provide an online library of 44 educational modules focused on perioperative patient and staff safety. Each module includes a video, study guide, and post-test. Training with comprehensive instructional videos can improve provider competency and clinical performance and any career stage.
